57 Years of Raising Seedstock

DAKITCH ANGUS & HEREFORD FARMS

Welcome!

It is with great pleasure and excitement that we invite you to the Dakitch Farms Annual Production Sale where we are offering you the opportunity to invest and share in our hard work and achievements.

Here at the farm, it has always been a goal to strive to keep learning, improving, and moving forward into the beef business. We have kept up on records and industry methods. We feel doing this has given us improved and extremely accurate comparisons into each animal within our herd and on a national level. The cattle have been bred and tested for structural soundness, performance, carcass quality, growth and eye appeal. Last but not least, coming from great mothers.

The bull offering is loaded with lots of potential. They have performance, are good on the move, with muscle expression and eye appeal. They come from a great set of cow families and will take those traits to your herd. These bulls would be a profitable investment into any cattle program.

We are grateful and want to recognize our customers, without your support the Dakitch Farms breeding program would not be where it is today. We are thrilled to have met amazing people and developed great relationships over the years and look forward to many more! Thank you!

Please feel free to call, stop in, or email with any questions.

Sincerely,
The Kitchell's
Matthew & Darci
David & Lorie, Michael and Mason

Reference Sire for lots 1-17

With no question the Trump calves have made a huge impact on our herd. They are the most phenotype group we have ever had. Trump adds that huge sweep to the middle to his calves, adds that extra pounds that are needed. Along with making them unreal sharp fronted. Trump has had 39 calves at BW to ratio 96.8, 29 at WW to ratio 106.9 and YW ratio 105.

Two generations bring DaKitch Farms' genetics to customers

By ANDREA JOHNSON - Farm & Ranch Guide

ADA, Minn. -- Call it talent, hard work or both, David Kitchell can see an opportunity and build on it.

Case in point. He and his family have built a valuable Western-style ranch in traditional crop country.

On what was an abandoned farm site in 1972, DaKitch Farms built a beautiful ranch home with a complete set of new outbuildings, plus miles of fenced pasture, grazing lands and tree lines.

The same thing happened with the cattle operation. David chose the Hereford breed for his 4-H project when he was just 9 years old – partly because his cousin had already picked Angus, and partly because he really liked Herefords.

From David's 4-H project, DaKitch Farms today runs 275 purebred cows and heifers. The farm includes Foundation herds of Registered Polled Hereford, with records going back to 1959, and Registered Angus that DaKitch Farms purchased in 1997.

"In our breeding program, we firmly believe in raising quality cattle that possess balanced udders, even pigmentation and a comfortable disposition," he wrote on the DaKitch Farms website. "We are constantly striving to produce cattle that will grow and develop with a high efficiency rate of gain, while maintaining key structure and finish."

Building a legacy

David thrived in the 4-H and FFA programs in high school. He purchased Herefords from top-notch local and Canadian Hereford breeders, and when he graduated from high school in 1967, he had 36 registered head. Already keeping extensive records, he earned his Minnesota and American Farmer Degrees in FFA. The cows helped pay his way through college at the University of Minnesota.

David was also one of the organizers of the Minnesota Junior Hereford Association, formed in 1967, and he was mentored by Dr. Charles Christians, the University of Minnesota general livestock coach and advisor for the Minnesota Junior Hereford Association.

After teaching high school agriculture for two years, David returned to fulltime ranching and farming in 1973.

He kept working to improve the herd as he and his wife, Lorie, raised their three sons, Matthew, Michael and Mason.

"When Dad started picking the quality of cattle back then, he picked a meaty type," said Matthew Kitchell, son and partner. "Dad never followed the trends. He kept the thick type with good udders all of these years."

From the time he was young, David's goal was to produce easy fleshing type cattle that didn't take a lot of feed when raised in northern climates.

He also wanted cattle with plenty of eye appeal, power and bone and a complete set of records. He kept accurate records, and he used culling to keep only the best.

As soon as Total Performance Records (TPR) became available, the Kitchells began using the tool through the American Hereford Association.

Today, they use the Whole Herd TPR to track their inventories and publish EPDs plus other performance data.

Some of DaKitch Farms' early accomplishments included producing many trait leader pasture bulls, including 77U, a birth weight trait leader, and his offspring, DaKitch Domino 52A, a total performance trait leader bull.

"77U was the first trait leader that went into the bull stud," said Matthew. "That was the first bull where customers really started showing up, and 52A was even better than his sire."

DaKitch Farms also produced many Hereford Dams of Distinction and Angus Pathfinder sires and females.

The Kitchells purchased their purebred Angus herd from Montana Rancher Bob Christ in the late 1990s to complement their Hereford herd.

"They were a Hereford-type cattle – good-boned and thick," said Matthew. "They were a functional-type of Angus with very good disposition. It was a good match for what we wanted to accomplish with the Herefords."

David and Matthew added that it's a lot of paperwork to maintain two purebred herds – but it's worth it.

"You'll get a guy that shows up looking for a Hereford bull, and his best friend wants an Angus bull," David said. "All of a sudden, they want to switch, so it works really well."

When the Kitchell brothers were in their teens, DaKitch Farms began to show customers how well their high performance breeding stock could compete in the show ring.

Like their father, Matthew, Michael and Mason competed in the Minnesota 4-H Livestock encampment at the state fair. They came away with many purple ribbons and plaques.

Mason graduated from high school in 2015, so 2014 was the last year he could compete in 4-H.

Matthew and his wife, Darci (Lundquist), decided to enter cattle in the Hereford Open Class show at the Minnesota State Fair in 2015.

It was the first time they had shown at the state fair in open class. It was quite exciting when DaKitch Farms won Champion Get of Sire, Champion Best Six Head, Minnesota Champion Bull and Hereford Premier Exhibitor.

They have also had good success showing at North Dakota cattle shows and the Denver show.

In 2010, to celebrate 50 years in the Hereford business, DaKitch Farms showed in the Pen of Heifers show and participated in the National Western Stock Show and Sale. They won Hereford Reserve of Show Pen of Heifers, and they sold two heifers in the sale.

In 2014, DaKitch Farms was selected as the Hereford Champion Pen of Heifers at the National Western Stock Show.

Looking ahead

As the Kitchells consider their future, they want to protect their genetics from the past 50-plus years – even as they move ahead.

“We’re going to keep having sales, and we’re going to work to maintain the quality we have,” said Matthew.

In addition to private treaty, their 2016 sale events include their Second Annual Bull Sale on Saturday, March 26 at DaKitch Farm, National Western Stock Show sales in Denver, DaKitch Online Sale in October and Go-Pher Sale in Hutchinson, Minn. in December.

The Kitchells have also focused their attention on using embryo transfer technology. Embryos from six elite DaKitch cows were placed in 66 DaKitch recipients for 2016.

“We are getting more progeny out of our top donor cows,” said Matthew. “These are our best cows that show the traits that we are seeking, including good udders, thick and stylish cattle and good feet.”

The recipient cows have strong milkability and mothering traits.

“We use our own quality recipients, so we don’t bring in disease,” said David. “That’s a key for me. My thinking is ‘Why would you want to waste time putting the embryo in just a cow, when the embryo is more valuable than a natural calf out of the recipient. We put good embryos in good cows to make good calves.’”

Matthew and David Kitchell at DaKitch Farms, Ada, appreciate the grazing lands available for the Registered Polled Hereford and Registered Angus herds.

The Kitchells also have a philosophy that everything that eats feed needs to make a profit. Cull cows are fattened up for the beef market.

“We try to make just as much profit on our bottom half as we do on our top half,” said Matthew. “We’ve worked on the process of selection all the way through the herd.”

While David and Matthew farm fulltime, Lorie is a Registered Nurse at Essentia Health-Ada Hospital.

Matthew’s wife, Darci, works at the Farm Service Agency office in Mahanomen County. She has her own herd of Purebred Limousins, and she fits and shows DaKitch Farms cattle.

Michael owns cattle, works with the small grains, corn and soybean farm, and is a Farm Service Agency Loan Officer in West Polk County. He is also the 2006 recipient of the Minnesota FFA Star Farmer Award.

Mason has begun his first year at North Dakota State College of Science, Wahpeton, where he is studying welding. He also owns cattle, repairs equipment and helps with the entire farm and ranch.

Today, everyone at DaKitch Farms shares a vision to keep building on what David Kitchell started long ago.

“We wouldn’t be here if it wasn’t for allowing Matthew and the others to take off and do these other things to enhance the quality of the cattle I’ve always had,” said David. “It takes a lot of effort, and they do it all.”
